This bonus is offered as an alternative to the traditional Europe trip, which has long been part of the Level 5 reward package. Users who prefer not to travel will now have the option to receive a direct financial reward instead, giving them the flexibility to use their bonus however they choose—whether that's reinvesting, saving, or spending on personal goals.

"Our Level 5 users are the backbone of our community. They've shown dedication, consistency, and outstanding performance. We want to make sure their rewards reflect that," said a StockPlusInvest representative.

The bonus amount will depend on individual performance and tenure at Level 5, with some users receiving up to $30,000.

This move signals StockPlusInvest's ongoing commitment to putting users first by offering customizable rewards and real financial value for loyal and high-performing members.

For many Level 5 users, this bonus adds another strong reason to stay engaged—and sets a new industry standard for investor appreciation.
